

Fountain of Health

Privacy Policy

We collect personal information from you, including information about your:

- name
- contact information
- medical information

We collect your personal information in order to:

- schedule appointments
- supply medical treatment

Providing some information is optional. If you choose not to enter contact information or medical details, we'll be unable to get in contact or providing the correct treatment.

We keep your information safe by storing it locally and only allowing access to our staff.

We keep your medical information for ten years at which point we securely destroy it by securely erasing all digital data.

“The Health (Retention of Health Information) Regulations 1996 say that health agencies must keep any health records they hold for a patient for 10 years from the last time they provided services to that patient.”
